An Error Occurred Setting Your User Cookie

This site uses cookies to improve performance. If your browser does not accept cookies, you cannot view this site.

Setting Your Browser to Accept Cookies

There are many reasons why a cookie could not be set correctly. Below are the most common reasons:

- You have cookies disabled in your browser. You need to reset your browser to accept cookies or to ask you if you want to accept cookies.
- Your browser asks you whether you want to accept cookies and you declined. To accept cookies from this site, use the Back button and accept the cookie.
- Your browser does not support cookies. Try a different browser if you suspect this.
- The date on your computer is in the past. If your computer's clock shows a date before 1 Jan 1970, the browser will automatically forget the cookie. To fix this, set the correct time and date on your computer.
- You have installed an application that monitors or blocks cookies from being set. You must disable the application while logging in or check with your system administrator.

Why Does this Site Require Cookies?

This site uses cookies to improve performance by remembering that you are logged in when you go from page to page. To provide access without cookies would require the site to create a new session for every page you visit, which slows the system down to an unacceptable level.

What Gets Stored in a Cookie?

This site stores nothing other than an automatically generated session ID in the cookie; no other information is captured.

In general, only the information that you provide, or the choices you make while visiting a web site, can be stored in a cookie. For example, the site cannot determine your email name unless you choose to type it. Allowing a website to create a cookie does not give that or any other site access to the rest of your computer, and only the site that created the cookie can read it.

Ads keep the MarioWiki independent and free :) Mexico City (Spanish: Ciudad de México, Distrito Federal or México, D.F.) is the capital city of Mexico, North America. It has made two appearances in Mario-related works. It has been requested that one or more images be uploaded and added to this section. Remove this template once the image(s) has/have been uploaded and applied. Specifics: I'm not sure which panorama from the episode will work, but any will do for now. Superbarrio Gómez is a Mexican "real-life superhero," celebrity, satirist, and organizer. Superbarrio, a high school dropout, wears red tights and a red and yellow wrestler’s mask. Rather than fight crime and corruption with violence, he uses his image to organize labor rallies and protests, and file petitions. His real identity was unknown for a long time, but he has been revealed to be Marco Rascón Córdova. Superbarrio is regarded in some circles with the same sort of awe children reserve for Batman or Spider-Man. And while he isn't as fit as either of them, he is very effective. In 1985, an 8.2 earthquake rocked Mexico City, destroying thousands of homes and taking more than 10,000 lives. In the wake of this crushing tragedy, the demand for homes rocketed, leaving many of Mexico City's poverty-stricken denizens unable to find a place to live. That's when Superbarrio Gomez (real name unknown), found his calling. While Superbarrio is still a folk hero in Mexico City, where dolls and T-shirts with his image are common, he keeps a lower profile these days. Even though he isn't as active, his spirit and cause lives on. << Previous.