PUBLICATION AGREEMENT

1. COPYRIGHT: In consideration for the publication of your work, if accepted and published by the journal noted above, the author(s) agree to transfer copyright of the work to REFLECTIONS: NARRATIVES OF PROFESSIONAL HELPING, Cleveland State University, including full and exclusive rights to all media now known or later developed, including but not limited to electronic databases and microfilm, and in anthologies of any kind (NOTE TO U.S. GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES: SEE YOUR EXEMPTION, PARAGRAPH 4 BELOW.)

2. AUTHOR RE-USES OF WORK: As a professional courtesy, the author retains the right to reprint his/her article again after publication in the journal, in any work he/she is sole author, or in any edited work for which the author is senior editor. No further permission is necessary in writing from REFLECTIONS, nor will the journal require fees of any kind for this reprinting. This statement is intended to provide full copyright release for the purposes listed above, and a photocopy of this release may be used when another publisher requires a written release.

3. READER RE-USES OF WORK: The author(s) acknowledge that registered readers of REFLECTIONS and others with access to the article may use their work consistent with Fair Use under 17 U.S.C. § 107.

4. AUTHOR WARRANTIES: The author(s) represent(s) and warrant(s):
   a.) that the manuscript submitted is his/her (their) own work;
   b.) that the work has been submitted only to this journal and that it has not been previously published;
   c.) that this article contains no libelous or unlawful statements and does not infringe upon the civil rights of others;
   d.) that the author(s) are not infringing upon anyone else’s copyright.
   e.) that the author(s) are responsible for any individual or organizational names that are mentioned, as Reflections disclaims responsibility for references to individuals, organizations, facts, and opinions presented by the published authors.
   f.) That the author(s) have taken care to ensure that the article does not contain any identifiable information about clients or patients except as pursuant to appropriate permissions and forms of informed consent as provided for in all relevant laws and codes of ethics.
   g.) That the author(s) content in no way violates any individual’s privacy rights.

The authors agree that if there is a breach of any of the above representations and warranties that he/she (they) will identify the publisher and editor and hold them harmless.

5. AUTHOR RETENTION OF PATENTS: The author(s) may have, within his/her (their) article, descriptions of his/her (their) own proprietary patents. It is not the intention of the editor or publisher to require copyright transfer of such materials. If any of these materials appear in the work, the authors may add his/her (their) personal copyright notice to patents, with this understanding:
   a.) the author(s) retain copyright for said patents, with full and exclusive rights to his/her (their) publication, not to include any other material from the article/publication;
   b.) the publisher retains full and exclusive rights to publication to the article/publication in any format, including patents when published as part of the entire article or production.

6. NOTE FOR U.S. GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES: If the article is single authored by an U.S. government employee as part of his/her official duties, it is understood that the article is not “Work of the U.S. Government.” However, if the article was not part of the employee’s official duties, it may be copyrighted. If the article was jointly written, the authors understand that they are delegating the right of copyright to the non-government employee, who must sign this agreement.

7. “WORK FOR HIRE” AUTHORS: If the article was written by an author who was hired by another person or company to do so, the article is called a “Work for Hire” manuscript. This agreement must be signed by the “employer” who hired the author, as well as the author.

8. NO AMENDMENTS: This form is not valid if the author(s) add(s) any additional constraints and amendments. Please submit the article elsewhere for publication if the author(s) do not sign the form without alteration.
One of the problems that I have with incorporating social media (and other types of technologies) into the classroom is that I feel that most approaches to this just select a grab-bag of services and ask the students to participate in them all. There is not a very clear connection between the services or a clear purpose for each one. For this blog, I wanted to find an infographic that described the connection between social media and how they can be used together in an effective way. I identified a small piece on Social Times that provides a good infographic on this subject: A Teacher’s Guide

Being made the expert on their ethnic group in classroom settings. Not being heard. Being singled out when someone needs an example. Request PDF on ResearchGate | A dialogue on hip-hop, social justice and pedagogy | The authors utilise the format of a dialogue in this essay to explore the place of hip-hop in the United States College classroom. Drawing upon dialogical pedagogy and analyzing an actual dialogue between urban youth and preservice teachers, the author examines the ways in which the student-researchers were “dissed” (disrespected) during and after the dialogue. Implications for practice and policy are explored. View. In a critical encounter with the work of Catharine MacKinnon and Mari Matsuda, this text asks whether and under what conditions hate speech and pornography can be considered “performative”, and in what sense.
