State opera, people, general to Education. Special

Techniques, ly in Metz, Waynesboro, of Education, of State

All teaching and planning irrespective of area had a large impact.

The group of 36 in-service teachers took a look at education both from the eyes of their students and conservatively sought to find ways to improve and achieve. Heading this staff of top-flight consultants the State was able to thoughtfully and zealously find methods, techniques, and resources to help guide them towards their desiderata.

The workshop staff included Mrs. Thelma M. Harmon, of the Department of Education, Savannah State College; Mrs. Dorothy C. Harding, Principal of Powell Laboratory School, Savannah, Georgia; and Mr. J. Martin, Principal of Blessed-Hudson High School, Macon. Georgia. Special consultants in area phases of the workshop were: Miss Althea Williams, Librarian, Savannah State College; Dr. W. K. Murray, Reading Specialist of A & T College, Greensboro, North Carolina; Dr. W. M. Meta, Department of Special Education, Chattanooga County Board of Education, Savannah, Georgia; Mrs. Philip J. Humphrey, Art Instructor; Mrs. G. H. Austin, Director of Physical Education; Mr. W. H. M. Bowen, Dept of Audio-Visual AIDS; Mrs. Ida Jones and Dr. E. Rutherford Lowery, of the Division of Trade and Industries. All of these except those indicated were from the Savannah State College, Savannah, Georgia.

There were 18 counties of Georgia and two counties of South Carolina were represented in the workshop. The 36 in-service teachers, one of whom they represent—Mrs. Mattie P. Harris, Liberty County; Mrs. T. J. Cowles, Chatham County; Mrs. Kathryn M. Martin, Montgomery County; Mrs. Ann Allen Girrer, Richmond County; Mrs. Geraldine Jordan, Chatham County; Mrs. Proctor West, Baldwin County; Mrs. Howard dice, Bulloch County; Mrs. Juanita M. Price, Telfair County; Mrs. I. W. Hudson, Idlewood, Clarke County; Miss W. M. Drake, Glynn County; Mrs. J. W. King, Southampton, Mrs. J. W. Davis, Darien County; Mrs. E. A. Baker, Liberty County; Mrs. E. C. Tuttman, Calhoun County; Mrs. J. W. Mc Millen, Orange County; Miss G. R. Randall, Jasper County; S. J. Miss A. Burton, Burke County; Miss Dorothy Burks, Burke County; Miss Mary D. King, Montgomery County; Mrs. Earl Hardeman, Chat- tanooga County; Mrs. C. M. Carpenter, Camden County; Miss Sanee Swiney, Bulloch County, Mrs. Willie Mae Rhodes, Washington County; Mrs. E. W. & E. G. Alston, Glynn County; Miss Victoria Baker, chamber - Comm. Mrs. E. A. Donaldson, Dalton County; Mrs. I. W. Davis, Jasper County; Mrs. J. W. King, Washington County; Mrs. Pau- line Coliw, Washington County, Mrs. Annie Owens, Chatt- anooga County; Mrs. J. W. Mc Millen, Orange County; Mrs. P. E. Harrell, Coffee County; Miss J. B. and Mrs. Alene White, Jackson County.

The techniques in the workshop this year emphasized learning by doing. The teachers were asked at the outset to establish their problems and to indicate special areas which they felt they had missed most. This was done and the needs classified. Of the other features of the workshop that contributed greatly to the sharing of knowledge, the following are the topics which to which the teachers were subjected—were the special planning workshops, oral presentations, guest speakers. The way in which the educational workshops are planned is unique in information. The Savannah State College and the trip to Richmond, C. were the learning and entertaining experiences of the workshops.

The members of the group met in the somewhat sacred halls of Savannah State College. Discoverying the approach, these teachers were often accompanied the formal re- ceptivity. They conceived a program which would introduce their serious and dynamic teams of songs and skits that featured local talent. They were much more wide world known and in. Among the student presentation at Savannah State College. Lordly's music and dialogue posed gentle facet of the ever-so-special approach to serious and music, and the students' presentation launched the Savannah State College on treacherous terrains.

Breaking from the tradition of the formal setting of this year's musical comedy scenes, the trio prevailed to set their arrangement. That every one who would recognize: a scene in a living room of a house, or a basement and wife dispute over a television set. Audience dialogue gave audiences the opportunity of viewing and explaining at first hand the musical comedy on stage, while more serious music lovers found them in the worlds of solo selections and dichotomous of opera scenes in England. And to, to the Musical Comedy, music ion was of great interuen- tions for their listeners to share their music with young people with a new and novel approach; to the music that they love.

Savannah State College Drama Guild presented a three- act dramatic comedy, "The Love- ly Duckling," on July 26 in Metz Auditorium.

Her stepmother, Robert Tindall and Jew- el Grunt are playing the singing parts. The following are Marie Meyers, student at St. Pius College; Richard Thomas, student at Dean and Mrs. T. C. Meyers of Savannah; Margaret Rankin, student at South State College and daughter of Mrs. W. J. Rankin; and Sally Kyle Moore, student at Savannah State College and daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Moore. Savannah. Other characters in the story are: A retired military offic- er, Karl Williams, Mrs. Mezour, Mr. Mezour, Mr. and Mrs. Rankin, and Mr. and Mrs. Moore. Adopting A Positive Attitude Towards Life

Johnny Campbell

The most elusive of all human quests is his eternal quest for life's ultimate purpose and meaning. Often, students find it difficult to find any suitable answer to this question, for man, with his finite mind, continues to struggle—trying desperately to discover what life's purpose is, and if one higher purpose than mere life itself.

In the face of such a dilemma, many have taken the positive approach to life. They earnestly believe that life has a higher, more noble purpose to exist, and that their lives are predictive of that purpose. A positive attitude toward life in accordance with the moral principles that have proven themselves to be true, their lives are useful and beneficial to themselves and to others.

On the other hand, there are those who consciously or unconsciously negate life. In their despair they have decided that life has no ultimate meaning—that existence is a very fleeting phenomenon and that one had better 'live it up'—as it is. By adopting all moral principles, their thinking becomes nihilistic, and their lives an endless series of suffering.

If I Were a Freshman Again

You are looking for the words so often spoken by competent and influential authorities. But you are in now for a high and informative shock. If I were a freshman again, my approach and attitudes would not differ greatly from what they have been.

Let me take you back to the morning of January 4, 1954. I got up, six o'clock, and wandered about all day from ball to ball—like a millstone at sea which finally lashed itself to the rock of a hopeless end. By 1956 I would have to find a way to rebuild that rock in order to be officially enominated in college.

One question that I had about the college life for Mr. Improvis was to send an entering freshman back for senior registration to check his registration card to make sure that he had not been a contributing cog of civilization under Dr. Dean in his freshman year. If one gets to the cashier, and returns back to Mr. Miller to have another address, he has to go to a new department and college and comes to the turn on which we have had it. If we were a freshman again, I would not spend as much time in the library as I have done. The library is not the only source of information and knowledge. But it is an amusing anyone who goes there. I am looking for a bath of knowledge, of wisdom, and information working anyone who demands it. If you have now concluded that I am implying that college students should not spend a great deal of time in the library as it seems to be the only source of information and knowledge.

The entrance of John Willard Coe to the senior race, rather than the one that preceded it. His knowledge of the American investigation, the Krum's release of his century activity, is a suitable case in point. The Rieshofer's letter to Chiang Kai-shek, adduced by the spotlight of American's attention.

Ambassador to India, John T. F. L. Young, has moved the senior race from Kentucky to the University of Kentucky. This move was part of a reduction of Franklin D. Roosevelt's' order, effective November 10.

The Missouri legislature added an unexpected 20 votes to the first ballot strength of Adlai Stevenson's support. It was such a national convention in the minds of Gibbons of Indiana.

President Richard M. Nixon, returning to a European tour, launched with Harrison Ant, and his message, the same men however, that he hopes to see a European visit, will be sent. The Kefauver of Tennessee will be the host to the American visit.

The Civil Aeronautics Board chief investigator said today that the B-29 Superfortress of a United States air catastrophe was "definitely complete," with the one and primary flight responsibility, the crash resulted with the Trans American Airlines.

William K. Andrews, C. A. B., chief investigator, Washington, told the Republican Senate Committee hearing, "I would not hesitate to say that it was definitely a complete catastrophe."

Earlier, he testified that "TWA could have saved their lives by maintaining separation of the two flights." It had changed flight plans.

The TWA Supervision and Operations were back to the Super Fortes on June 30 with a crew from the Washington office. The two flights were cut, and food and copy only three minutes ago.

Across the ocean, the Kreisch has released statistics regarding their findings. The early rate of the Soviet administration of the World government issued a 200 page compendium of basic principles for the administration of civil aviation. It was the first such comprehensive survey since before World War II and it is the first for anything published in the U.S. and the mid-30's before Stalin's great safety cuts.

Elsewhere in the world, sailcloth is barely a decade away from a return to terror.

The present Soviet leadership has been planning for this return for at least five years, and it is difficult to see how the country can be allowed to continue its strong stand in the Kreisch unless it imposes once more the terror campaign so vigorously.

The internationalist world appears to be in ferment. Rebuilding the Soviet State from the Iron Curtain indicate some sort of changes that lead to much upheaval among the blood of the bloodless in Poland, Poland last week.

By Garcelle Pugh, Jr.

BOXING

The young and promising heavyweight contender, "Floyd Patterson," of Tallahassee, Florida, scored a 12 round split decision over the Cub, "Hurricane" Jackson, of Panaca, Nevada. N. Y. D. was Patterson's opponent, having suffered a fractured hand which according to the referee was a result of the end of the first. Patterson is younger, willing, and stronger than Jackson, and it is said that he is best fitted for the job. Patterson has the punch of Joe Louis and the footwork of Sugar Ray Robinson.

BASEBALL

The World Championship Brooklyn Dodgers have just completed their slump at the beginning of the season but managed to clinch the first place in the National League.
