Abstract:
Pottery sherds recovered from the site of the J. W. McCoy Pottery Co. site permit identification of the company's early "Dutch Ware" line of earthenware cooking ware, which dates to ca. 1908-1911. Fortuitous collecting at the site underscores the value of archaeological survey of such sites even when uninformed officials may insist that "there is nothing there."

History – JW McCoy & Brush-McCoy Potteries. History – Nelson McCoy Pottery. Trademarks. Others call it McCoy Troubadour. I have not found any lines of those names, but I believe this is from the 1927 Dutch Line made by Watt for Brush Pottery. Per Huxfords, the 1927 Brush Dutch Line was, “Embossed Frolicking Dutchmen, in blended colors of green and brown, or high-gloss Kolorkraft hues.” The color of the clay on this piece is ivory, and the quality appears to be rough, or crude. Also, are these pieces known to be reproduced? You searched for: mccoy brown ware! Etsy is the home to thousands of handmade, vintage, and one-of-a-kind products and gifts related to your search.
