Chosen People in Foreign Lands: Scriptural Reflections on Immigration and the Uprooted

Immigration: Catholic Perspectives and Responses

Joseph A. Mindling, O.F.M. Cap.
Chosen People in Foreign Lands: Scriptural Reflections on Immigration and the Uprooted

Jeanne M. Atkinson
Catholic Values and American Immigration Policies

Vivian Ligo
“How Can I Sing God’s Song in a Foreign Land?” Immigrant Experience as Exile

Cecelia Fandel, O.S.M.
The Border and Immigration: An Invitation to Posada
This is an agreement between NTR and the author for the publication of the submitted article in the online journal New Theology Review. By submitting this agreement, the author and the NTR agree as follows:

1) The author grants to the NTR the exclusive right of first publication in the article, as well as the ongoing and perpetual non-exclusive right to reuse and republish the article for any purpose, including, but not limited to, the right to copy, migrate or convert the article, without alteration of the content, to any medium or format to ensure continuous access and preservation. The author agrees that the article may be used and published by the NTR in electronic or printed format and/or in any other medium now in existence or that may be created hereafter.

2) NTR will publish and distribute the article worldwide in the online journal New Theology Review using a Creative Commons “Attribution, Non-Commercial, No Derivative Works” license. The author understands and agrees that this license permits users of the journal to print and/or copy the article for noncommercial purposes. NTR will make all reasonable efforts to ensure that the author’s name remains clearly associated with the article.

3) Except for the rights granted to NTR in this agreement, the author retains ownership, including all other copyrights, in the article and may republish the article in any format and at any time subsequent to publication in New Theology Review. The author agrees, however, to acknowledge in all subsequent publications that the article was first published in NTR.

4) The author represents and warrants that the article is his or her original work and that it either has not been published or submitted for publication in any prior forum, or that it has been substantially revised and updated from a prior version. The author further represents that he or she has the right to grant this license to NTR and that, to the best of the author’s knowledge, the article is neither defamatory of any persons or products nor infringing upon any third party’s copyrights. If the article contains material for which the author does not hold the copyright, the author represents that such material is clearly
5) In the event of any subsequent dispute over the copyrights to material contain in the article, the author agrees to indemnify and hold harmless NTR and its employees and agents for any uses of the article authorized by this agreement.

Most read articles by the same author(s)

As immigrants integrate socially and economically, the economic benefits and costs they generate change. However, economics does indicate some clear improvements could be made to the design of the immigration system. The author sketches a number of these improvements, including adding measures to channel currently illegal immigration through legal routes; increasing the ability of less-skilled immigrants on employment-based visas to switch employers more easily and to gain a path to citizenship; making employer visa fees sufficient to offset some of the costs of low-skilled immigration; includ