The cultural turn has had a profound effect throughout human geography: changing foci of study, innovating methodologies and challenging disciplinary boundaries. The cultural turn has produced... been matched by a “spatial turn” elsewhere in the social sciences (Cook et al., 2000), geographers are still attentive to places, their constitution through social relations and their interrelationships. Keywords: Food System Fair Trade Human Geography Economic Geography Ethical Consumption. These keywords were added by machine and not by the authors. This process is experimental and the keywords may be updated as the learning algorithm improves.