Beginning micro-PROLOG

Full text not available from this archive.

Abstract

The book introduces PROLOG from the point of view of the human user. It is based on the SERC project "Logic as a Computer Language for Children", based at Imperial College London. Illustrated with numerous classroom examples, the book explores the application of logic across the curriculum.