ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

September 14 & 19: Performances at the Weis Center for Performing Arts
Sept. 14: Mohamed Abozekry & Karkadé (World Music: Egyptian) - 7:30 PM Free concert in the Weis Center Atrium. Mohamed Abozekry has that rare gift of combining limitless virtuosity with an unbridled imagination. An oud master, he mixes Egypt's popular and classical music traditions, the Sufi calls and secular poetry to musically describe a path to an Arab world at peace with its history and turned towards the future.
Sept. 19: Red Molly (Americana) 7:30 PM Known for their gorgeous harmonies, infectious songwriting and captivating stage presence, Red Molly (Laurie MacAllister, Abbie Gardner and Molly Venter) weaves together the threads of American music - from folk to bluegrass, from heartbreaking ballads to barn-burning honky-tonk - as effortlessly as they blend their caramel voices into their signature crystalline, three-part harmonies. Their brilliantly wrought a cappella tunes are love letters to the art of the vocal blend, and their innovative instrumentation is perfectly suited for foot-stomping, bluegrass-tinged barn burners and heartfelt ballads alike. Performance will be held at the Campus Theatre. www.Bucknell.edu/weiscenter

September 15: Sheep-Sorting Tour & Local Honey and Garlic for Sale at Owens Farm

Come to the farm for a sheep-sorting tour. This is the day we separate the flock into groups to sell, keep, or breed. We'll use the border collie to bring the entire flock down to the handling system, a brilliantly engineered system of chutes, pens, and gates, and group the sheep according to their destiny. We'll also check in with the other animals like the 'piglets', who are all grown up now, the fall chickens, and the turkeys. The Summer Bounty is Rolling in- the sunny days and abundant blossoms we enjoyed in June and July were perfect weather for honey-making. The lovely, light gold summer honey is now for sale at our farm. Stop by anytime during daylight hours. One-pound glass jars are $9, Honey Bears are $7. We have also just harvested and cured a new crop of German White garlic, known for large cloves and pronounced flavor. For new folks, we are located at 2611 Mile Post Rd. between Sunbury and Riverside. Find more information visit
