Law, Force and Diplomacy at Sea

Overview

Authors

Ken Booth (Author)
Department of International Politics

Type

Book

Permanent link

http://hdl.handle.net/2160/39690

Original language

English

Publisher

Allen & Unwin

Number of pages

231

Edition

1st

ISBN (Print)

978-0415746311, 0415746310

Publication status

Published - 1985

Links

http://hdl.handle.net/2160/39690
Abstract

Law, Force and Diplomacy at Sea, first published in 1985, is one of the few comprehensive treatments on the subject from a strategic perspective. It offers a detailed strategic analysis of the background and outcome of the Third UN Conference on the Law of the Sea, and its naval implications.

The interplay between the interest of the naval powers in freedom of navigation and the interest of coastal states in control provides the setting for the strategic problems. The sea is taking on more properties of the land: it is becoming ‘territorialised’, and this is presenting fresh challenges and opportunities to which navies and their national governments have to respond.

This study is designed for students of naval strategy, for international lawyers and for students of international affairs who wish to think about the important security questions in the maritime environment.

Fingerprint

diplomacy

Law

coastal state

lawyer

UNO

student

Researchers

Organisations

Research outputs

Projects

Impacts

Datasets

Facilities & Equipment

Activities

Prizes

Press/Media items

Theses
Since today the sea takes on more and more properties of the land becoming territorialized, this presents new opportunities and challenges to which all governments and their navies shall respond in a most efficient manner. A must-read publication for all categories of students and professionals listed above taking into account the number of the topics covered in a single volume. The sea is taking on more properties of the land: it is becoming ‘territorialised’, and this is presenting fresh challenges and opportunities to which navies and their national governments have to respond. This study is designed for students of naval strategy, for international lawyers and for students of international affairs who wish to think about the important security questions in the maritime environment. Table of Contents. List of Maps; Preface; List of Abbreviations; Part One: The Context 1. Between Law and War: the Problem 2. Between Past and Future: UNCLOS III 3. Into the Future: UNC... Policy at Sea? Appendix; References; Index. About the Series.