I've read the book through. This is the book I promised to lend you. I've got a lot of good books, come and make your choice. 8. I'm well off for books. Most of all, Arthur Conan Doyle was interested in his historical novels. He considered them as the main part of his literature, but the readers preferred 'The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes'! Two stories about Sherlock Holmes were dramatized, one of them in the USA and another one in England. 7. Read the story, translate and give a short summary. THANKFUL STRANGERS. Mr. Morton, the manager of a big company, always came to his office in Manhattan in his own car. Once when he went out of his company to go to a small restaurant for lunch he didn't find his car in the parking lot. Mr. Morton phoned the police who promised to find his car as soon as possible. At the end of the working day when Mr. Morton left the company to go home he was greatly surprised to see his car in its place. When he got into the car he saw on the seat two tickets to the theatre and a note: "Sorry for In fact, it can sometimes confirm people in their own prejudices. A friend of mine went to Cyprus and when he came back, he complained bitterly that he could not find English food and everything was so foreign! If one travels with that kind of attitude, this person never learns anything about other places and people. Today many people travel not in order to learn or broaden their mind, but to "have a good time" and usually on their terms. I think travel can broaden the mind; but only when there's room in it to expand. Speaker 3 I've just got back from a trip to Japan and what I
