The photo collection includes new pictures testifying the deep relationship between the present Pope and the CCR. Also, a new layout and cover make the book more attractive.

The previous edition of this book, translated into eight languages, has sold widely worldwide. As many people examining the history and nature of the Catholic Charismatic Renewal sought to reflect more deeply the contributions of Popes Paul VI and John Paul II. In this new, updated edition, we also have the reflections of Pope Benedict XVI. Undoubtedly, this book will be of considerable interest to anyone who wants to reflect upon the wise advice and guidance offered to the Renewal by the great spiritual leaders of the post-Vatican II Church.

Coptic icon of Pentecost. First published June 6th, 2007, the content of this writing comes back to me with a new sense of immediacy. Are we drawing nearer to this moment than we realize? (I have updated this writing, inserting recent comments from Pope Benedict.) As By A New Pentecost. For the past fifty years Patti has traveled the world bearing witness to the grace of the Baptism in the Spirit. She is an international leader, author and speaker in the Catholic Charismatic Renewal. Then we will see more clearly that the story of Pentecost continues and that the Renewal is indeed, in the words of Paul VI, “a chance for the Church and for the world.” For the past fifty years Patti has traveled the world bearing witness to the grace of the Baptism in the Spirit.
