Salagramas do not require preliminary rituals of purification and consecration. They naturally contain the vibhuti of the Godhead, and may be worshipped straight away. In the worship of Salagrama, no initiation is required; there are no special hymns or specific procedure of worship, nor any need for a qualified priest or master of ceremonies. Worshipped anyhow, it bestows the benefits; and there is no error of any kind. If, however, it is formally worshipped with all the details scrupulously observed, the benefits procured are boundless. Method of worship: In the morning after bath arrange yo