A Voyage in the Clouds: The (Mostly) True Story of the First International Flight by Balloon in 1785

Nicole Clark

Keywords
Outstanding, Primary, Intermediate, flight, England, France, biography, aviation, exploration and discovery

Document Type
Book Review

Abstract
In 1753, no one had ever traveled from one country to another via hot air balloon—until British Dr. John Jeffries and Frenchman Jean-Pierre Blanchard determined to be the first. Their aerial adventure is filled with hangups, however, not the least of which is that the two men are rivals who try to thwart each other before the balloon even leaves the ground. More problems await them in the air, forcing them to set aside their differences and find a creative solution that will land them safely on French soil.

BYU ScholarsArchive Citation

Available at: https://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/cbmr/vol39/iss3/10

Ballywhinney Girl. by Eve Bunting and Emily Arnold McCully. Young Maeve and her Grandpa are out cutting peat when he finds a child’s body… Grades in which Ballywhinney Girl is Assigned. No educators have yet completed this “grades used” section of the Literary Text Complexity Qualitative Measures Rubric for Ballywhinney Girl, where they share what grades this text is assigned. Perhaps you can help. 1. National Governors Association for Best Practices and Council of Chief State School Officers.